CIS DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS WINS INDUSTRY AWARD

ALLAMUCHY, NJ (November 16, 2016) – Angie Jenkins, CIS Director of Operations, is the recipient of the prestigious National Consumer Reporting Association (NCRA) President’s Award.

Angie was selected for her service and contributions to NCRA’s education committee, including the consumer education subcommittee. While serving in these roles, Angie has been instrumental in developing curriculum for Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) certification and training collateral for NCRA member companies. Angie recently led a project to produce Credit 101 curriculum, a significant undertaking that required exceptional commitment to gathering information from various sources, organizing content, ensuring accuracy with industry requirements and writing. The result was a comprehensive, updated program that gives member agencies an advantage when educating clients on consumer credit reports and scores.

“Angie is an integral part of the CIS team and we are thrilled to see her efforts recognized by her peers,” said Mike Brown, CIS President & CEO. “Angie’s outstanding commitment to service is seen every day as she leads our East & West Coast operation centers. Her in-depth credit and industry knowledge, as well her expertise on FCRA, compliance and credit reporting platforms is unparalleled. Angie’s contributions to NCRA have benefitted the entire industry.”
